Concept Statement

In order to give the family their dream home the focus was on making the space unique and interesting. By using curved walls and many bold features, the space quickly came to life. This large home has many family gathering places throughout the home and incorporates many concepts of Feng Shui, such as color and placement of stairs and furniture. In order to achieve a high comfort level for the family it was important to stress Feng Shui and balance the openness of the home with areas of privacy. This home is warm, modern, cultural, and welcoming.
